Hot and humid conditions are expected today as high temperatures climb to near normal levels. Scattered thunderstorms will be possible, especially along and south of Interstate 20. The strongest storms will produce gusty winds, frequent lightning strikes and locally heavy rainfall.

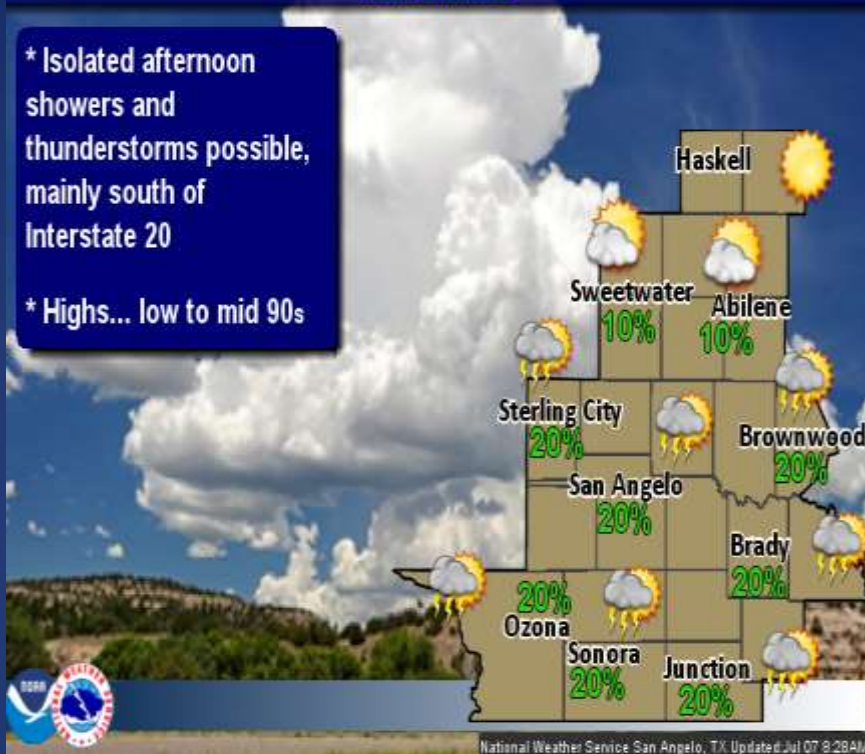

Hazardous Weather

A Few Storms Today

Rain Chances

* Isolated afternoon showers and thunderstorms possible, mainly south of Interstate 20

* Highs... low to mid 90s

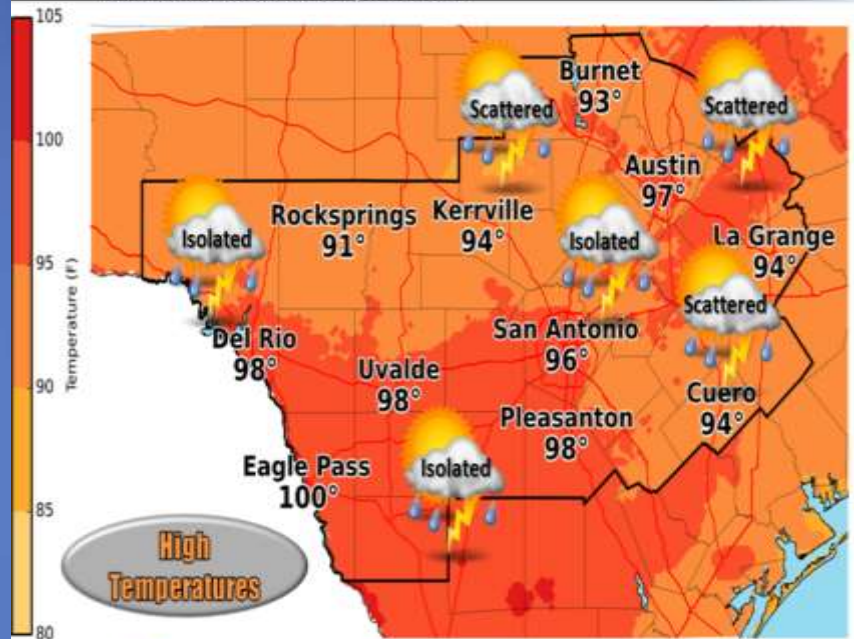

Isolated showers and thunderstorms will be possible this afternoon. High temperatures will be in the low to mid 90s

Isolated to Scattered Showers & Storms, Otherwise Continued Hot

National Weather Service Austin / San Antonio

Isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected later this morning through this afternoon with the greatest coverage near the Coastal Plains. Temperatures will again be slightly above normal with highs ranging from the lower 90s in the Hill Country to near 100 along the Rio Grande. Seasonable humidity will lead to afternoon heat index values of 100 to 105, though lower in the Hill Country. Take precautions to stay cool and hydrated.

Hazardous Weather

Daytime heating and a weak upper level disturbance will foster the development of scattered showers and thunderstorms today. High temperatures will warm into the lower and middle 90's.

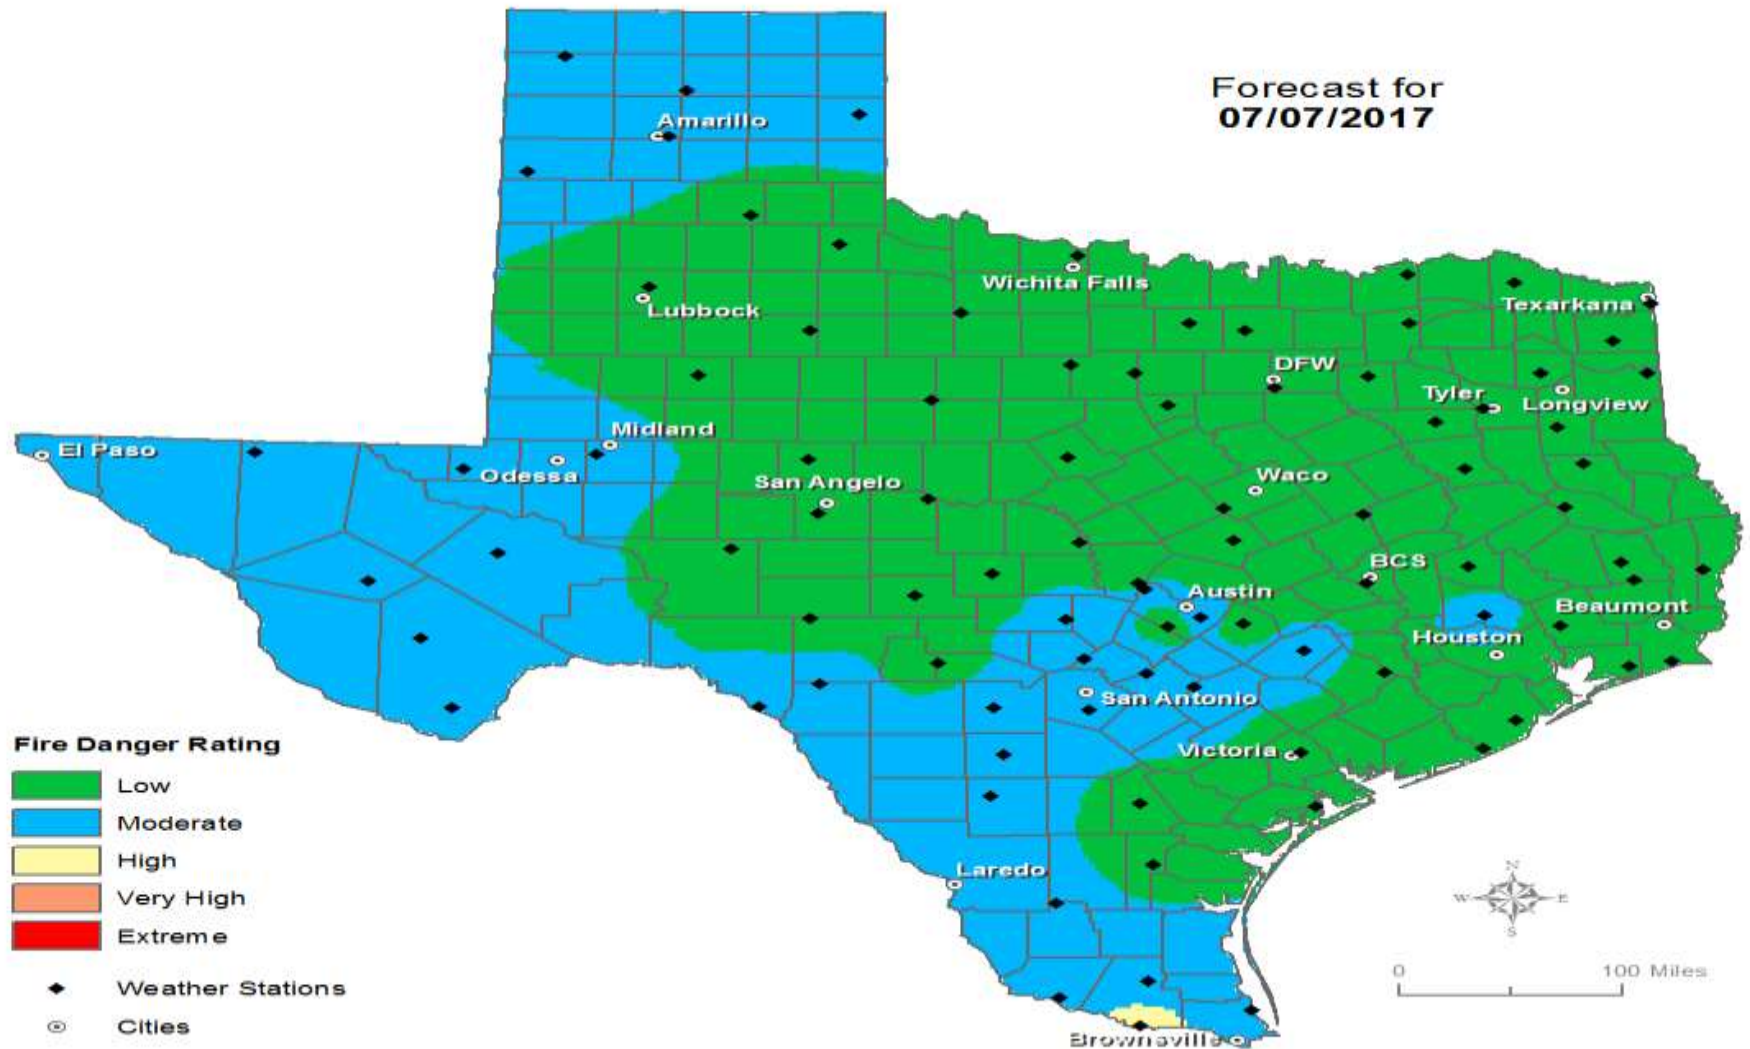

A potential break from triple digit heat today with highs only topping off in the mid to upper 90s. Scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms will continue to develop along the sea breeze this morning along the coast and move westward into this afternoon and evening. Heavy rain is possible in persistent slow-moving showers or thunderstorms today and may cause ponding on roadways or street flooding.
